(3) Despite subsections (1) and (2), the Council may, if it is of the view that it is not in the public interest for a person mentioned in either of those subsections to be registered as an allied health professional with full registration, direct that the person be registered — and the person has been selected for employment in Singapore as an allied health professional in an establishment approved by the Council.

(2) For the purpose of satisfying itself that a qualification in subsection (1)(c) is not lower in standing than a qualification mentioned in subsection (1)(a) or (b), the Council may require a person to undergo and pass an examination conducted or arranged by the Council or by such other person as the Council may appoint.

(6) Without limiting subsection (5), the Council may impose the following conditions and restrictions:

- (a) the person must work for a specified period in such establishment and under the supervision of such allied health professional who is registered with full or restricted registration in the same prescribed allied health profession as that of the person, as the Council may approve in order to acquire practical experience of such nature as the Council may determine;

(8) On an allied health professional with conditional registration becoming any other type of registered allied health professional, his or her name must be removed from the Register of Allied Health Professionals with Conditional Registration.

prescribed allied health profession which are adequate for the purposes of registration under this section, may be registered as an allied health professional with temporary registration in that profession for so long as the person continues to engage himself or herself exclusively in teaching, research or postgraduate study in that profession under such approved training scheme in such approved institution, or in such healthcare capacity, as the Council may specify.

(2) The Council may require a person seeking registration under subsection (1) to sit for and pass such examination as may be prescribed by the Council.
