(3) The Board may charge an insured person, a person by whom the premium is payable or an approved payee (as the case may be) an administrative fee of such amount as may be prescribed and (if applicable) interest on the excess payment at such rate as may be prescribed, if any material change, error or prescribed circumstances referred to in subsection (1) or (2) arise from incorrect information which is —

(a) provided by —

(iii) the approved payee,

as the case may be; and

Demand note for outstanding premiums under CSHL Scheme

23.—(1) If the whole or any part of the premium payable for an insurance period under the CSHL Scheme remains unpaid at the expiry of such period as the Board may permit (being at least one month) after the beginning of that insurance period —

- (a) interest may be imposed from time to time on any outstanding premium for that insurance period (excluding any penalty imposed under section 29), to run from the beginning of that insurance period or from such later period as the Board may determine at the prescribed rates; and
 - (b) sections 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28 may be applied to the outstanding premium.
- (2) A recovery body must serve a demand note on a defaulter liable to pay any outstanding premium —
 - (a) if any interest or penalty is to be imposed on the defaulter under subsection (1)(a) or section 29, as the case may be; and

Defaulter's agent for recovery of outstanding premiums under CSHL Scheme

24.—(1) A recovery body may, if it considers necessary, by written notice declare any person (other than the Government) to be a defaulter's agent.

(2) The person declared to be the defaulter's agent under subsection (1) is regarded as the agent of the defaulter for the purposes of this Act, and may be required by the recovery body to pay any outstanding premium payable under the CSHL Scheme by the defaulter from any moneys which may be held or received by the defaulter's agent for, or due from the defaulter's agent to, the defaulter —

(a) on, or within 90 days after, the date on which the defaulter's agent receives the notice under subsection (1); or

(b) on or after the date on which the defaulter's agent receives the notice under subsection (1), if the moneys are earnings and the defaulter's agent is liable, as a principal and not as an employee or agent, to pay the earnings to the defaulter.

(3) Where separate amounts of moneys come to be held or received by the defaulter's agent for, or become due from the defaulter's agent to, the defaulter at different times within the period in subsection (2)(a) or (b) (as the case may be), the recovery body may require the outstanding premium to be paid in instalments of such sums as the recovery body may specify from one or more of those separate amounts.

(4) Any person who is declared by a recovery body to be a defaulter's agent under subsection (1) and is aggrieved by the declaration may object to the declaration by written notice to the recovery body within 14 days after the date of receipt of the notice, or within such longer period as the recovery body in its discretion may allow in a particular case.

(5) The recovery body must examine the objection under subsection (4) and may cancel, vary or confirm the declaration objected to.

(6) An objector in subsection (4) who is aggrieved by the recovery body's decision under subsection (5) may appeal against that decision in accordance with the regulations.

(7) If the defaulter's agent fails to make any payment under subsection (2), the outstanding premium is recoverable from the defaulter's agent in the manner provided in section 27.

(8) For the purposes of this section, a recovery body may require any person to give information as to —

- (a) any moneys, funds or other assets which may be held or received by that person for any defaulter; or
 - (b) any moneys due from that person to any defaulter.
- (9) Where a defaulter’s agent makes any payment of moneys to the recovery body under this section or section 25 —
- (a) the defaulter’s agent is deemed to have acted under the authority of the defaulter;
 - (b) the defaulter’s agent is, by this provision, entitled to be indemnified by the defaulter in respect of the payment to the recovery body;
 - (c) the outstanding premium due from the defaulter is reduced by the amount paid by the defaulter’s agent to the recovery body; and
 - (d) the amount paid by the defaulter’s agent to the recovery body is deemed to have been paid to the defaulter in accordance with any law, contract or scheme governing the payment of moneys held or received by the defaulter’s agent for, or due from the defaulter’s agent to, the defaulter.
- (10) In this section, “earnings”, in relation to a defaulter, means any sum payable to the defaulter —
- (a) by way of wages or salary, including any fees, bonus, commission, overtime pay or other emoluments payable in addition to wages or salary by the person paying the wages or salary, or payable under a contract of service; or
 - (b) by way of pension, including an annuity in respect of past services, whether or not the services were rendered to the person paying the annuity, and including periodical payments by way of compensation for the loss, abolition or relinquishment, or any diminution in the emoluments, of any office or employment.

Defaulter’s agent in relation to joint moneys

25.—(1) This section applies where the moneys referred to in section 24(2) are moneys in a joint account of which the defaulter is a joint account holder, or are the proceeds of sale of any immovable property of which the defaulter was a joint owner.

(2) The defaulter's agent must —

- (a) within 14 days after the date of the receipt of the notice under section 24(1), send a notice, by registered post addressed to every joint account holder of that joint account in the bank or owner of the proceeds of sale (called in this section joint moneys) at the joint account holder's or owner's address last known to the defaulter's agent, informing the joint account holder or owner of the declaration under section 24(1);
- (b) retain such amount of the joint moneys as is presumed under subsection (3) to belong to the person from whom the outstanding premium is due; and
- (c) subject to subsections (6) and (7), within the time specified in the notice (being not less than 42 days after the date of the receipt of the notice under section 24(1)) pay the outstanding premium due from the retained amount to the recovery body.

(3) It is presumed, until the contrary is proved, that the joint account holders of a joint account have equal shares of the moneys in the account as at the date of the receipt of the notice under section 24(1), and that the joint owners of any immovable property share the proceeds of sale of the property equally.

(4) Any owner of joint moneys who objects to the share presumed under subsection (3) may give notice of the owner's objection in writing to the defaulter's agent within 28 days after the date of the receipt of the agent's notice under subsection (2)(a), or within such longer period as the recovery body may allow, and give proof as to the owner's share of the joint moneys together with the notice of objection.

(5) Where an objection under subsection (4) is received, the defaulter's agent must —

- (a) inform the recovery body of the objection within 7 days after the date of the receipt of the objection; and

(b) retain the amount of the joint moneys mentioned in subsection (2)(b) until such time as the recovery body by notice under subsection (6) informs the defaulter's agent of the recovery body's decision on the objection.

(6) The recovery body must consider the objection under subsection (4) and, by written notice, inform the objector of its decision.

(7) An owner of joint moneys aggrieved by the decision of the recovery body under subsection (6) may appeal against that decision in accordance with the regulations.

(8) Where the recovery body has decided under subsection (6) on the amount of the defaulter's share of the joint moneys, the defaulter's agent must, despite any appeal under subsection (7), pay that amount, from the amount of the joint moneys retained under subsection (5)(b), towards any outstanding premium due from the defaulter.

(9) In this section, "joint account" means a bank account in the names of 2 or more persons, but excludes any partnership account, any trust account and any account where a minor is one of the joint account holders.

Payment by Government

26.—(1) Where —

- (a) any outstanding premium under the CSHL Scheme is due from any person under this Act other than as a defaulter's agent under section 24 or 25;
- (b) an amount is or would be payable by the Government to the person by or under any written law, contract or scheme —
 - (i) on, or within 90 days after, the date on which the public officer in paragraph (c) receives the notice in that paragraph; or
 - (ii) on or after the date on which the public officer in paragraph (c) receives the notice in that paragraph, if the amount is earnings (as defined in section 24(10)) payable to the person by the Government as a principal and not as an agent; and

- (c) before the amount referred to in paragraph (b) is paid to the person, the recovery body serves a notice on any public officer by whom the payment is to be made that the outstanding premium referred to in paragraph (a) is due from the person, then the public officer is, despite that or any other written law, contract or scheme, entitled to pay the whole or any part of the amount referred to in paragraph (b) towards the whole or any part of the outstanding premium referred to in paragraph (a).

(2) If a public officer makes a payment under subsection (1) towards the outstanding premium referred to in subsection (1)(a) —

- (a) the amount of the outstanding premium must be reduced by the amount of that payment; and

(3) All sums (including costs and interest) recovered in a suit brought under this section must be paid into the Fund.

28.—(1) Where a recovery body is of the opinion that any defaulter is about or likely to leave Singapore without paying all outstanding premiums payable under the CSHL Scheme by the defaulter, the recovery body may —

- (a) issue a certificate containing particulars of such outstanding premiums; and

(b) give a direction to the Commissioner of Police or the Controller of Immigration, or both, to prevent the defaulter from leaving Singapore unless the outstanding premiums are paid or security to the recovery body for that payment is furnished.

(2) Subject to the provisions of any order issued or made under any law for the time being in force relating to banishment or immigration, upon receiving a direction under subsection (1), the Commissioner of Police or the Controller of Immigration, or both (as the case may be), must take, or cause any police officer or immigration officer to take, such measures as may be necessary to prevent the defaulter in question from leaving Singapore until every outstanding premium has been paid or secured.

(3) The measures mentioned in subsection (2) may include —

(a) the use of such force as may be necessary; and

(b) if appropriate, the detention of any passport, certificate of identity or travel document and any exit permit or other document authorising the defaulter to leave Singapore.

(4) Despite section 61, when the recovery body issues the certificate under subsection (1), the recovery body must give the defaulter, by personal service or registered post, a notification of the issue of the certificate; but a non-receipt of the notification does not invalidate any proceedings under this section.

(5) Payment of any outstanding premium to an officer-in-charge of a police station or an immigration officer, or production of a certificate issued by the recovery body stating that an outstanding premium has been paid or secured, is sufficient authority to not prevent the defaulter from leaving Singapore.

(6) A defaulter who, knowing that a direction has been issued under this section to prevent the defaulter's departure from Singapore, voluntarily leaves or attempts to leave Singapore without paying the outstanding premium or furnishing security to the recovery body's satisfaction for that payment —

- (b) may be arrested, without warrant, by any police officer or immigration officer.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), the regulations may provide for penalties to be imposed at different rates for premiums and interest imposed under section 23(1)(a) which remain unpaid for different periods.

(3) The total amount of the penalties imposed on the premium and interest for an insurance period must not exceed 17% of the total amount of the premium for that insurance period and any interest imposed under section 23(1)(a) on the outstanding premiums for that insurance period.

(4) The recovery body may, subject to such terms and conditions as the recovery body may specify, extend the time limit within which payment of any penalty is to be made.
