EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

This Bill seeks to amend the Constitution of the Republic of Singapore. The amendments are related to the Maintenance of Racial Harmony Bill, which will establish a Presidential Council for Racial and Religious Harmony to replace the Presidential Council for Religious Harmony established by the Maintenance of Religious Harmony Act 1990, and empower the Minister to make certain restraining orders.

Clause 1 relates to the short title and commencement.

Clause 2 amends Article 2(1) to insert a definition of “Presidential Council for Racial and Religious Harmony”.

Clause 3 amends Article 21A(2)(a) so that the default time limit of 30 days applies to the President’s exercise of discretion under Article 22I in respect of a restraining order under the Maintenance of Racial Harmony Bill and a direction to extend such a restraining order.

Clause 4 amends Article 22 to confer on the President the discretion to refuse to make an appointment to the Presidential Council for Racial and Religious Harmony if the President does not concur with the advice of the Presidential Council for Minority Rights.

Clause 5 replaces Article 22I to confer on the President the discretion to cancel, vary or confirm a restraining order under the Maintenance of Racial Harmony Bill if the advice of the Cabinet is contrary to the recommendation of the Presidential Council for Racial and Religious Harmony. The discretion extends to directions to extend such a restraining order, except that such directions may only be cancelled or confirmed but not varied.
