EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The object of this Bill is to provide for the licensing and registration of the business of banks in Singapore.

Part I of the Bill deals with the operation of, and definitions in the Bill.

Part II is concerned with the licensing of banks. Clause 3(1) provides that banking business shall be transacted in Singapore only by a company which has a licence in writing from the Minister. Existing banks in Singapore included in the Third Schedule to the Bill will be granted a licence forthwith, subject to their meeting certain requirements set out in Clause 34 of the Bill. Other companies wishing to carry on banking business will have to apply for a licence in writing to the Minister, who may grant or withhold a licence or grant a licence subject to conditions. The Minister may vary or revoke any existing conditions of any licence or impose conditions.

No bank may be granted a licence unless it satisfies the provisions of Clause 4. Under this clause local banks must have a paid up capital of not less than two million dollars and other banks a paid up capital not less than five million dollars of which at least two million dollars must be held in Singapore. The Minister may exempt an existing bank from these provisions for up to ten years.

Clause 5 places restrictions on the use of the word "bank" and its derivatives.

Clause 6 sets out the circumstances in which a licence may be revoked by the Minister and provides for an appeal against revocation to the High Court.

Part III of the Bill imposes certain obligations upon licensed banks. The Minister must be informed of any alteration in a bank's constitution; each licensed bank is required to maintain a reserve fund; audited balance-sheets of banks are to be exhibited; restrictions are imposed on the payment of dividends or the granting of loans or advances to the staff of a bank and the granting of unsecured advances; certain statistical statements are to be furnished to the Chief Statistician; bank amalgamations and reconstructions require the consent of the Minister; and bank auditors must be approved by the Minister.

Part IV of the Bill deals with the powers of the Minister to establish a Clearing House and appoint an Inspector of Banks to investigate into the affairs of banks and to appoint advisers to banks.

Part V of the Bill contains general provisions defining inter alia the persons not eligible to take part in the management of a licensed bank. Clause 29 requires the consent of the State Advocate-General to any prosecution under the Ordinance and Clause 32 makes several minor and consequential amendments to the Companies Ordinance (Cap. 174).

The provisions of the Bill do not extend to the Post Office Savings Bank, to any registered co-operative society or to any duly licensed business of pawnbroking.

Part VI provides for transitional arrangements whereby existing banks can be licensed. These banks are listed in the Third Schedule to the Bill and by Clause 34 they will be granted a licence forthwith subject to their meeting certain requirements.

A comparative Table is attached.
