EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

This Bill seeks to amend the Supreme Court of Judicature Act (Cap. 322) mainly for the following purposes:

- (a) to establish the Singapore International Commercial Court as a division of the High Court;
- (b) to provide for the Senior Judges of the Supreme Court (Senior Judges) and the International Judges of the Supreme Court (International Judges); and

- (c) to make certain provisions relating to restrictions on appeals, and leave to appeal, to the Court of Appeal in civil proceedings.

The Bill also makes consequential and related amendments to certain other written laws.

Clause 1 relates to the short title and commencement.

SINGAPORE INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL COURT

Clauses 7 and 13 relate to the establishment of the Singapore International Commercial Court.

Clause 7 inserts new sections 18A to 18M relating to the Singapore International Commercial Court.

The new section 18A establishes the Singapore International Commercial Court as a division of the High Court. This means, among other things, that judgments of the Singapore International Commercial Court will be judgments of the High Court, and enforceable as such.

The new section 18B provides for a President of the Singapore International Commercial Court to be appointed by the Chief Justice.

The new section 18C provides for the Act to apply to proceedings in the Singapore International Commercial Court as it does to proceedings in the High Court exercising its original civil jurisdiction, subject to the new sections 18D to 18M and 80(2A).

The new section 18D enables the Singapore International Commercial Court to hear and try any action of an international and commercial nature that may be heard by the High Court in its original civil jurisdiction. The Rules of Court may prescribe additional conditions to be satisfied before the Singapore International Commercial Court can hear and try any action.

The new section 18E creates a pre-action certification process for the Singapore International Commercial Court. A pre-action certificate may state that an intended action is international and commercial in nature for jurisdictional purposes, and other matters that the Rules of Court may prescribe. The certificate will be conclusive in such circumstances as the Rules of Court may prescribe. An application for a pre-action certificate may be by way of an originating process or such other process as the Rules of Court may prescribe, and can be determined summarily.

The new section 18F provides for the effect of an agreement to submit to the jurisdiction of the Singapore International Commercial Court. The parties to such an agreement are considered, in the absence of any express provision to the contrary, to have agreed (a) to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Singapore

International Commercial Court, (b) to carry out that Court's judgments and orders without undue delay, and (c) to waive any recourse to a foreign court or tribunal, whether against a judgment or an order of that Court or against the enforcement of that judgment or order, insofar as such recourse can be validly waived. Recourse to a Singapore court is not affected.

The new section 18G provides for proceedings in the Singapore International Commercial Court to be heard by one or 3 Judges.

The new section 18H provides for cases where the Singapore International Commercial Court consists of 3 Judges, including where one or more of the Judges are unable to continue hearing the case.

The new section 18I provides that the Singapore International Commercial Court may exercise all the powers that may be exercised by the High Court in its original civil jurisdiction, except for the power to make prerogative orders, and powers that must be exercised through the Family Division.

The new section 18J provides for the transfer of cases from the Singapore International Commercial Court to the High Court (excluding the Singapore International Commercial Court), and vice versa.

The new section 18K provides that the Singapore International Commercial Court is not to be bound by rules of evidence under Singapore law (including rules of law relating to privilege or the taking of evidence) in such cases and to such extent as the Rules of Court may provide. This could include rules of evidence under the Evidence Act (Cap. 97) or the common law. In such cases, other rules of evidence may be applied in accordance with the Rules of Court. Such other rules may be found in foreign law, or from other sources, e.g. the International Bar Association Rules on the Taking of Evidence in International Arbitration.

The new section 18L enables the Singapore International Commercial Court to determine, in such cases as the Rules of Court may prescribe, any question of foreign law on the basis of submissions instead of proof.

The new section 18M enables parties in the Singapore International Commercial Court to be represented by foreign lawyers.

Clause 13 inserts a new section 80(2A) to enable Rules of Court to prescribe different procedures and practices for proceedings in the Singapore International Commercial Court and appeals from that Court. Among other things, the Rules of Court may provide for the Singapore International Commercial Court to make judgments and orders without hearing oral arguments, for certain judgments and orders of that Court to be final, and for the Registrar of the Supreme Court to refuse to administer a case in the Singapore International Commercial Court (or an appeal from that Court) if fees or deposits are not paid.

SENIOR JUDGES AND INTERNATIONAL JUDGES OF THE SUPREME COURT

Clauses 4, 5, 6 and 8 make provision for the Senior Judges and International Judges whose offices will be created under the Constitution of the Republic of Singapore (Amendment) Bill 2014.

Clause 4 inserts a new section 5A to restrict International Judges to sitting in the Singapore International Commercial Court and in appeals from that Court to the Court of Appeal. This will include deciding whether the Singapore International Commercial Court has and should assume jurisdiction in a case, and whether a case should be transferred to the High Court (excluding the Singapore International Commercial Court).

Clause 5 repeals and re-enacts section 9 to restate the constitution of the High Court, in view of the 2 new judicial offices.

Clause 6 makes an amendment to section 10 that is consequential to clause 5.

Clause 8 amends section 29 mainly to provide for Senior Judges and International Judges to sit in the Court of Appeal if the Chief Justice so requires. International Judges will only sit in appeals from the Singapore International Commercial Court. Provision is also made for the Chief Justice to appoint the person who would preside over a sitting of the Court of Appeal where there are no Judges of the Supreme Court constituting that Court.

RESTRICTIONS ON APPEALS, AND LEAVE TO APPEAL, TO THE COURT OF APPEAL IN CIVIL PROCEEDINGS

Clauses 9, 11, 12, 14 and 15 relate to restrictions on appeals, and leave to appeal, to the Court of Appeal in civil proceedings.

Clause 9 amends section 30(2) to enable applications for such leave to be heard by 2 Judges of Appeal.

Clause 11(a) amends subsection (2) of section 34 to provide that leave for the purposes of that subsection can be granted by either the High Court or the Court of Appeal. Clause 11(b) deletes subsection (2B) of section 34 as a consequence.

Clause 11(c) inserts new subsections (6), (7) and (8) into section 34 to align the restrictions on an appeal to the Court of Appeal from any decision, judgment or order of the High Court in certain family proceedings commenced in the High Court with the restrictions on an appeal to the Court of Appeal from any decision, judgment or order of the Family Division of the High Court in family proceedings of the same types.

Clause 12 inserts a new section 34A to enable the Court of Appeal to decide applications for leave without hearing oral arguments.

Clause 14 makes an amendment to the Fifth Schedule that is consequential to clause 11(a) and (b).

Clause 15 is a transitional provision for clause 11(a) and (b).

MISCELLANEOUS

Clause 2 amends section 2 —

- (a) by replacing the definitions of “Judge” and “Judge of Appeal”, as a consequence of other amendments to the Act; and
- (b) by deleting the definition of “Public Prosecutor”, as that term is no longer used in the Act.

Clause 3 makes technical amendments to section 4.

Clause 10 amends section 31 to clarify how an application heard by the Court of Appeal consisting of 2 Judges of Appeal will be dealt with if the members of the Court are divided.

Clause 16 —

- (a) amends the definition of “Judge of the Supreme Court” in section 2(1) of the Interpretation Act (Cap. 1) to mirror the definition of that term in the Constitution of the Republic of Singapore, as amended by the Constitution of the Republic of Singapore (Amendment) Bill 2014;
- (b) amends the definition of “Judge” in section 2(1) of the Interpretation Act to mirror the definition of that term in the Supreme Court of Judicature Act, as amended by clause 2; and
- (c) makes related amendments to the Criminal Procedure Code (Cap. 68) and the Singapore Academy of Law Act (Cap. 294A).

EXPENDITURE OF PUBLIC MONEY

This Bill will involve the Government in extra financial expenditure, the exact amount of which cannot at present be ascertained.
