- (a) cannot without undue expense or risk of damage be divided into 2 or more loads for the purpose of conveyance on a road; and
- (b) cannot, owing to its dimensions or weight, be carried by a motor vehicle or trailer complying in all respects with the requirements of the Rules;

“engineering plant” means movable plant or equipment which does not comply in all respects with the requirements of the Rules, and which is either —

- (a) a motor vehicle or trailer specially designed and constructed for use in connection with engineering operations and which is only used on a road in proceeding to and from the site of such operations or when actually engaged in such operations and carrying no load other than its own necessary gear or equipment;
- (b) a trailer (including a tar boiler or road material mixing apparatus but excluding any other trailer used for the carriage of road material or similar burden), used for the purposes of, or a living van used in connection with, the construction, maintenance and repair of roads; or
- (c) a mobile crane which is only used on a road in proceeding from one place to another and not for the purpose of the lifting or transportation of goods or burden otherwise than when actually engaged in engineering operations;

“Rules” means the Road Traffic (Motor Vehicles, Construction and Use) Rules (R 9).

Vehicles for conveyance of abnormal indivisible loads

3. The Minister has authorised the use on roads of motor vehicles and trailers specially designed and constructed, and used only, except as provided in paragraph 6, for, or empty in connection with, the conveyance of abnormal indivisible loads notwithstanding that such vehicles do not comply in all respects with the Rules, subject to the conditions and restrictions contained in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7 and also to the following conditions and restrictions:

- (d) the overall width of any such motor vehicle shall not exceed 2.9 metres and the overall width of any such trailer shall not exceed 2.9 metres except where a greater width is necessary for the safe conveyance of the particular loads carried by that trailer;
- (e) every such motor vehicle shall be equipped with pneumatic tyres or tyres of soft or elastic material;
- (f) all wheels of any such trailer shall be fitted with pneumatic tyres or tyres of soft or elastic material;
- (g) every such motor vehicle or trailer with more than 4 wheels, and every such trailer having more than 2 wheels in contact with the ground being part of an articulated vehicle shall be provided with such compensating arrangement as will ensure that all the wheels will remain in contact with the road surface and under the most adverse conditions will not be subjected to abnormal variations of load, except that this requirement shall not apply to any steerable wheel of a motor vehicle if the load on such wheel does not exceed 2½ tonnes; and
- (h) every such vehicle shall be equipped with an efficient braking system the brakes of which act upon not less than half the total number of wheels of the vehicle and such brakes shall at all times while the vehicle is used on a road be maintained in good and efficient working order and shall be properly adjusted.

Engineering plant

4. The Minister has authorised the use on roads of engineering plant notwithstanding that such vehicles do not comply in all respects with the requirements of the Rules, subject to the conditions and restrictions in paragraphs 6 and 7 and also to the following conditions and restrictions:

- (g) the total weight transmitted to the road surface by any wheels not fitted with pneumatic tyres of any such vehicle in line transversely shall be such that the average weight per 25 mm. width of tyre in contact with the road surface shall not exceed 30 kilograms;
- (h) every track laying vehicle shall be so constructed that —
 - (i) the parts of the track which come into contact with the road surface are flat and have a minimum width of 12 mm.; and
 - (ii) except in the case of a track laying road roller, the total area of each track actually in contact with the road surface at any one time is not less than 0.023 square metre in respect of each tonne of the total weight of the vehicle which is transmitted to the road surface by means of the tracks;
